

THE PASSENGER.

Aldermen at Variance About the Appointments of Bath Keepers.

"AN INVASION OF LAW."

Mr. Doyle Denounces the Method of Election and Criticizes the Committee's Work.

In their efforts to grab a little patronage for their friends, the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen took their chances yesterday of breaking the law, and appointed four men as bath keepers over the heads of veterans who were eligible.

"I believe this Board has committed a misdemeanor," said Alderman Doyle. The other members did not appear to look upon the matter so gravely.

"Veterans who get above 70 per cent are entitled to be appointed ahead of any other applicants," continued Alderman Doyle, "and this Board ought to go slow."

Some days ago a committee consisting of Aldermen Myers, Thompson, Learycraft, Mauser and Weston was appointed to examine candidates for bath keepers. There were eight veterans on the list. They had all passed high for merit, in the regular examination by the Civil Service Commission. The Aldermen were to examine for fitness only.

There were places for only five men, and the five whom the Aldermen rated highest, with their per cent, were Benjamin C. Kirk, 48; George J. King, 47.75; Thomas Peasey, 46; Patrick O'Hare, 45, and C. B. Smith, 45.

Alderman Myers introduced the resolution appointing these five men to the vacancies, each member of the examining committee casting a vote. Only one man on the list, Smith, was a veteran, and the following veterans passed above a per cent: Thomas Peasey, 46; George J. King, 47.75; Thomas Peasey, 46; Patrick O'Hare, 45, and C. B. Smith, 45.

According to the law, any one of these five veterans is eligible for appointment ahead of the four non-veterans, who were recommended. Alderman Doyle raised this point as soon as Myers's resolution to appoint the five men was read. It was then that Alderman Doyle declared that the resolution was a plain "invasion of the law."

"I would like to know how this committee determined whether these bath keepers were 'fit,'" said Alderman Doyle. "It is that they marked all these men so nearly equal."

"But, they are experts," replied Alderman Myers, with a laugh.

"Can they swim?" asked Alderman Leich.

"Every man we examined is qualified to be a bath keeper," replied Alderman Myers. "Of course, they are expert swimmers."

"I can see how you could determine whether they could swim," said Alderman Doyle. "You examined them in the water. I believe it is unlawful to even examine bathhouse keepers in mid-Winter. I think the committee ought to see the candidates in the water."

"Well, every man is an expert swimmer, depend on that," chimed in Alderman Learycraft, another member of the examining board. "As for the veterans," he continued, "I am not a swimmer, but I am in favor of appointing all veterans to the vacant places, but I am only one."

Without further discussion, the Board passed the resolution appointing the men named in Myers's resolution. They will have charge of the five new baths which have been built along the Brooklyn water front.

GAVE HIM CASH DEPOSITS.

But the Discharged Collectors Were Unable to Get Their Money Back from Miller.

According to indictments just found in Kings County, Michael Miller, of No. 302 Grand street, East New York, has made a handsome living by trading on the misfortunes of ignorant German boys. John D. Gorman, who, it is alleged, worked with Miller, has been indicted also. He gave bail yesterday, but Miller is in jail.

Miller was arrested as he was trying to take his back seat fence last Wednesday night by two detectives from the District Attorney's office. He was originally arrested on a charge of perjury. As a result of his business as a professional bondsman, since his arrest he has been indicted for defrauding several boys.

A number of young men appeared before the Grand Jury as witnesses last week. They declared that when they applied for work as collectors Miller offered them a contract with them for a year, insisting at the same time on a cash deposit as security. Miller would then find an excuse to discharge them and they would be left with a week or two. He also refused to give back the money deposited, and they found they had no address in law. The amount of each individual deposit varied between $400 and $175.

Assistant District Attorney Pladwell, who has charge of the case, said yesterday he had several other complaints against Miller which are now under investigation.

OWEN MATTHEWS WILL WAGE WAR ON THE TELEPHONE COMPANY.

Owen Matthews Will Wage War on the Telephone Company.

THE POLICE APPEALED TO.

Parkville's Champion of the People's Rights Once More Asserts Himself.

Owen Matthews, one of the largest property owners of Parkville, and one of the wealthiest residents of that section of the Greater New York, who for many years has been prominent in fighting for the rights of individuals, is on the warpath again. He appealed to the police of the Parkville precinct yesterday afternoon for protection for a shade tree that stands on his property, at the corner of Lawrence and Gravesend avenues, and which he claims is threatened with destruction at the hands of the employees of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company.

In order to string the wires the company intends to run on the new poles it will be necessary to cut down the shade trees to protect it. Mr. Matthews stood guard all day yesterday, and he will appeal to the courts for redress. A policeman was detailed to watch the tree last night, but Mr. Matthews could secure some rest in order that he might keep up his vigil to-day.

Mr. Matthews owns a long strip of property along Gravesend avenue, and the employees of the company have started to erect new poles on which to string their wires. The new poles are intended to run along Prospect Park, Coney Island road, Gravesend avenue and Twentieth avenue to the Kings highway.

It is declared that the telephone company anticipated that in Mr. Matthews they would have a formidable enemy to deal with, and they decided to act only on Friday afternoon. They obtained permission from the Department of City Works to dig up the ground here and there along the route laid out for the erection of new poles, but kept very quiet until Sunday morning, when a gang of about thirty-five laborers, with shovels and picks, began to excavate in front of Mr. Matthews's home.

The men got to work about 10 o'clock, and when Mr. Matthews's attention was called to the matter he became much annoyed, and calling to his twenty-year-old son, Leo, to accompany him, slipped a revolver in his pocket, and walked forth to remonstrate with the laborers. The men, under the charge of Foreman Thomas Fitzpatrick, told him to get out, and he refused to go. He made one hole, and Mr. Matthews jumped into it. They could not get him out. He defied them.

Another hole was dug. By direction of his father, Leo jumped into it. Matthews was told to get out, and he refused to go. The first man who laid a hand on either himself or his son, Mrs. Matthews came to the rescue later and suggested that the police be called. She said she would be the best way to settle the matter without further trouble, and a messenger was sent to the Police Station.

Sergeant Dooley and a small squad of policemen responded to the call. The matter was explained, and the "Serena" myself, and was in a state of mind to interfere, as the laborers were working under the terms of a permit granted by the City Works Commissioner. Mr. Matthews and his son were lifted out of the excavation, and it was agreed that if the police would remove the men, the new poles there would be no objection made to the erection of new ones. When the new poles were finally placed in the holes, the laborers and employees of the company walked away to make other excavations.

TO OBLIGE MR. OWENS.

At the Senator's Request Behrens Gets a Cigar Stand Site in the City Hall.

Samuel Behrens, an Eastern District cigar salesman, got a share of the Brooklyn City Hall yesterday through his good friend, ex-Senator George Owens, of the Fourteenth Ward.

Behrens had been given the privilege by the Board of Aldermen, of keeping a cigar stand on the main floor of the City Hall. The resolution was presented by Alderman Myers, and was passed by a vote of 12 to 10.

Behrens explained to his fellow members. There was not a dissenting vote.

Heretofore the corridors of the City Hall have been kept free of vendors. A boot-black, a satellite of Alderman Bacher, of the Eastern District, has been allowed to do business on the main floor for the past year.
